CCPN hears from members face to face at fall meetings

With 1,326 clinicians in 383 practices across North Carolina, CCPN staff and board members are busy this fall hearing from members about priorities and potential areas of engagement in 2017.

Allen Dobson, MD

We have opportunities for you to work with peers across North Carolina on issues that will help your practice operate more efficiently and effectively as we all make the transition to the new payment models of the future. We will continue to offer webinars and opportunities for face-to face conversations. In the meantime, if you have a question or an idea let us know!

Practice Profile: Rutherford Health Center Delivers Collaborative Treatment Protocol for High-Risk Patients

Resource Corner

Value-based Payment and MACRA

Training set for Dec. 8 at Village Inn & Conference Center, Clemmons NC

For details and registration see

In November CMS launched the Application Program Interface (API), which builds on the Quality Payment Program website.

API makes it easier for other organizations to retrieve and maintain the Quality Payment Program's measures and enables them to build applications for clinicians and their practices.

The API, available at qpp.cms.gov/education, allows developers to write software using the information described on the Explore Measures section of qpp.cms.gov.

Rutherford Health Center is a CCPN practice and a Federally Qualified Health Center in western North Carolina. The practice is approaching quality improvement through new external collaborations and internal protocols targeting their highest-risk patients.

Patients with multiple emergency department (ED) visits, two medical comorbidities, a behavioral health diagnosis and a social determinant of health have been identified as high-risk for the purposes of this intensive level of intervention.

Practice Manager Stephanie Hill has created a community workgroup consisting of the local hospital's Director of Case Management and hospital Community Liaison, a pharmacy representative, the local CCNC Carolina Community Health Partnership Behavioral Health Coordinator, and Rutherford Health Center's physician quality champion. This collaborative group meets regularly to develop strategies to provide key community resource information to patients and other community providers.

At Rutherford Health Center, Dr. David Bate, Medical Director, and Stephanie have created pop-up alerts in the EMR which notify the medical provider, the practice's care team and Stephanie when a high-risk patient has an appointment at the practice. Patient referrals and transportation needs are closely monitored and telephonic appointment reminders are sent to high-risk patients. The practice has established new communication strategies with the hospital for these targeted patients as well. Rutherford Health Center also offers behavioral health services, and all efforts are made to schedule physical health and behavioral health appointments on the same day.

Additionally this practice is part of CCNC's Practice Transformation Network (PTN) under the Transforming Clinical Practice Initiative. Through the CCNC Carolina Community Health Partnership network, the PTN coach works closely with Stephanie on implementing quality improvement initiatives.

The primary goal of these quality improvement activities is to improve patient outcomes through adherence with primary care. Anticipated results include a reduction in ED visits, better patient compliance with scheduled office visits, increased medication adherence and enhanced collaboration with behavioral health services.

A total of 1,326 clinicians in 383 practices are a part of the Community Care Physician Network as of 11/30/2016. For a list of practices see below and on the following pages. Note, practices with multiple office locations are listed just once.
